

Digital Project Assistant (Werkstudent) (f/m/d)

Schacht One – Unesco World Heritage Zollverein

Schacht One is the dedicated pioneer for digital innovation within the Haniel Group. We identify, validate, and incubate digital opportunities to generate revenue and establish new sources of income. With this we enable Haniel to stay "enkelfähig".

We are a subsidiary of "Franz Haniel & Cie. GmbH" located at the Zollverein UNESCO World Heritage Site. Schacht One stands for innovation, perseverance, and authenticity! Some 165 years ago, Franz Haniel laid the foundation for the industrialization of the Ruhr by mass-mining coveted fat coal at Pit 1 of the Zollverein mine. At Schacht One, we now mine the fuel for growth in the future: digital ideas.

As Digital Project Assistant (m/w) (German: Werkstudent), you will work in digital projects together with your teammates, our customers, and external partners. Your goal is to support Schacht One's digital projects and help design the digital journeys of Haniel's business units.

Just like our customers, your tasks and projects will be extremely diverse. Moreover, many projects have high visibility within the customers' management boards and even the Haniel board.

When working at Schacht One, you will have to keep up with both worlds: startup-like and ultra-short decision-making, as well as corporate management routines. It's up to you to make our team not only bigger, but better!

When we think about you, we believe you should...

- ... major in a relevant field of study such as (innovation) management, entrepreneurship, and marketing
- ... have gained initial experience in working in project teams
- ... be capable of working independently
- ... like to work in a dynamic environment in which constant learning and the watercooler chat with your teammates are more important than the 5-star cantina
- ... bring along a natural curiosity for (and maybe initial experience in) innovation
- ... have an entrepreneurial spirit
- ... be fluent in German and comfortable with speaking and writing English.